Background

Fanshawe, one of Ontario's largest colleges with four campuses, provides the best learning environment and educational opportunities to 43,000 domestic and international students each year. Fanshawe offers more than 200 degrees, diplomas, certificates, and apprenticeship programs with a promise to educate, engage, empower, and excite. Fanshawe is recognized for its quality education, great environment, and cultural diversity. As Canada is a multicultural country, Fanshawe itself has students from diverse cultures, values, and spirits. In other words, Fanshawe celebrates multiculturalism. The college aims to promote and encourage diversity, thus planning to put its best effort into launching research projects, introducing different kinds of events and seminars, hosting an International Diversity Awareness Week, and teaching students about various cultures, among other diversifying efforts.

Situational Analysis

Due to Covid-19 travel restrictions, the international students at Fanshawe College are facing a challenging situation. They are unable to leave their country to study in Canada and visit Fanshawe College's Campuses. The ones who were already living in Canada before the travel restrictions are unable to return to their home countries. For these students, they have lost the opportunity to travel back home to visit family and get jobs. This has led to stress and uncertainty between the international community at Fanshawe, with students feeling, they are missing out on the on-campus experience and Canadian culture, and on the other hand there are students who are unable to return and visit their home country. To help, comfort and show compassion with the international students during this time, Fanshawe College is developing a communications plan to support these students that will allow them to communicate between cultures in a virtual reality setting.

- Covid-19 restrictions leave international students unable to visit campus, return home and leave their country to come study in Canada at Fanshawe
- Fanshawe knows the struggles that these students are going through during this time and want to help them get the culture experience that they deserve

A SWOT analysis will be performed to analyse the strengths, weaknesses, opportunities, and threats concerning the communication plan and the situation for international students at Fanshawe College.

Strengths	Weakness
Connection: Developing more support tools and communication channels for the students impacted by this travel restriction Strategy: Create both project-specific plans and develop an overall communications plan for Fanshawe College to communicate targeting international students.	Emotions: The efforts can help the students mentally, but they still may feel like they are trapped waiting for restriction policies to change.
Opportunities	Threats
Many available communication channels: Fanshawe College has many ways to communicate with their students; this includes social media, email, website, flyers/posters, etc. Room to Increase awareness of cultural diversity between international students and domestic	The online events to increase cultural awareness can cut the students' study time. When covid restrictions will be taken back, students will be no longer interested in the online events.

Opportunities/Needs

- Have real social connections for Fanshawe students all over the world where they are otherwise disconnected, either physically or mentally (distance from one another/lack of understanding)
- The surge of covid-19 restrictions has led to a decrease in the opportunities to get to know diverse cultures by interacting in class rooms.
- Students are feeling isolated due to the limited social interaction.
- Optimize digital media (zoom) in an effective manner by having active and engaging gatherings (interaction from students with one another) rather than only passive (one person lecturing to many)
- Need for connection between domestic and international students
- Need for cultural inclusion
- Need for social interaction during pandemic
- Need for cultural awareness

Goals

- Increase the understanding of Canadian culture among Fanshawe international students in the virtual world.
- Promote cultural exchange among students.

Tactics

Objective 1: Increase the Canadian cultural understanding among international students by 40% within four months

Tactic	Communication Channel
A class about Canadian history, culture, customs, and contemporary dynamics of culture	Zoom meeting
Panel discussions about the cultural dynamics provided by international students	Zoom

Speaker series and Q&A sessions	Zoom
Notify students of any upcoming workshops and events that they can participate in from our objectives	Newsletter

The rationale to support tactics for objective 1

Since the target audience group of objectives 1 will be scattered through different countries and time zones, zoom/online programs will be best suited for them. As culture is best ultimately to be experienced, providing enough background knowledge is an excellent first step towards achieving this objective.

Objective 2: Increase the diversity/culture exchanges by 70% in summer semester

Tactic	Communication Channel
Host cultural festivals	In-person newsletter/emails
Promote culture-based groups and exchanges via social media	Facebook
Host Events where the students get to know other cultures in depths through panels, discussions, and speaking events	In-person or zoom

The rationale to support tactics for objective 2

The target audience of objective 2 is international students currently in Canada. All the tactics mentioned here are geared to help them feel a sense of community and home here in London. Also, even talking to another person from the same cultural background will help alleviate the homesickness to some point.

Objective 3: Increase student participation in classroom learning by 50% in summer semester

Tactic	Communication Channel
Kahoot quiz games	Zoom
Provide enough substance in the classes by properly covering the topics and introducing guest speakers.	Zoom
Provide equal opportunity and adequate time for discussion in class	Zoom

The rationale to support tactics for objective 3

Students will only consistently attend classes either when they are mandatory or if they get enough worthy information or value from the course. Keeping the classroom dynamic, content-packed, and accessible is necessary to achieve this objective.

Objective 4: Increase student engagement in workshops, events, and mentorship programs by 50% in four months.

Tactic	Communication Channel
Various workshops (resume, interviews, cultural learning)	In-person newsletter/emails
Promote the workshops and events on social media	Facebook, Instagram, etc

Provide credit or CCR hours for the participation in these workshops	Web copy
--	----------

The rationale to support tactics for objective 4

In order to promote active participation in any program, first and foremost, that program needs to be rewarding. Most of our college events are not widely promoted and not even known to many of the students, especially considering the pandemic. So, there should be a plan to energetically promote each, even at least in the recent weeks of the event as well as its rewards. This promotion program should convey exactly what these students can expect from the program and its benefits.

Metrics

Objective 1: Increase the Canadian cultural understanding among international students by 40% within four months.

By Creating a questionnaire - An online survey will be created specifically to measure the international students' depth of Canadian cultural understanding. Include questions related to seasons, precautions, foods, and customs.

Feedback Forms: Online feedback forms will allow the students to give organizers' suggestions and criticism and thus, will help in better understanding of students' preferences.

Objective 2: Increase the diversity/culture exchanges by 70% in the summer semester

Attendance Tracking- We will record attendance at our various events where culture sharing takes place for our first measurement. At the beginning of each event, we will have everyone "sign-in" on a digital sign-in sheet. This way, we can see who and how many people attended our events. We will see how the attendance fluctuates throughout the timeline. Seeing how many people are attending our events over time can help us measure how effective they were at keeping people coming back.

Review Engagement of social media posts and social media groups- We will look into the engagement of our social network efforts. Seeing how many members have joined our cultural groups on Facebook over time, seeing if our posts via Facebook are being engaged with (like count, comment count), Seeing the quality of the comments (long vs. short)

Objective 3: Increase student participation in classroom learning by 50% in the summer semester.

Tracking student usage/participation on Kahoot- When using Kahoot, instructors can write down the name of each participant in the game. We can check the metrics over each session and game by seeing how many people participate in each game. Taking note of if participation has dropped, increased, or stayed the same (tracking the number of students in each game)

Objective 4: Increase student engagement in workshops, events, and mentorship programs by 50% in four months.

- Use attendance and feedback forms in workshops, events, and mentorship programs.
- Track the hours and engagement through spreadsheets.

Conclusion

Expected Results

- Expanded worldview

The campaign will support the students to develop an expanded worldview by working on online group projects and collaborating with international classmates. Learning about other cultures, attitudes, and problem-solving will help students to approach problems and opportunities effectively.

- Cross-cultural interaction

The campaign fostered cross-cultural communication, which in turn improved communication between students. It also helped students develop the key components of intercultural competence, such as openness, curiosity, and communication skills.

Next Steps

Tactics for this communication plan were intended for the pandemic situation. However, in the future, we are hoping for a normal life and expecting that students who are studying online from other countries can come to London, Canada. As Fanshawe college always prioritizes student engagement, celebrating major festivals of various countries, including other activities, will be able to relieve international students from homesickness. They will feel at ease and able to experience Canadian culture.
